Children at Emanuel School

~by John Freeland - Jen Greco recently returned from five days at a mission in Honduras. She described the trip as informative, shocking, humbling, and inspiring. The Christian mission for children is located in San Pedro Sula, Honduras' second largest city. Part of the mission is Emanuel School, which serves 280 students from preschool through fifth grade. The medical and dental clinic serves 100,000 of the city's poor each year. The feeding station feeds one meal each day to 60 to 75 children, who are among the poorest of the poor. The children who receive this meal are chosen by the doctor running the medical clinic, and the children whom the doctor found to be suffering from malnutrition.

The mission's greatest need is financial assistance to keep the feeding station open. The current donors are no longer able to sustain it. The cost to keep the station running is about $700 a month. The mission's second greatest need is financial sponsors for school children. The tuition per student is $300 a year. In terms of the future, the school hopes to open a carpentry school for vocational training to provide jobs skills to the children.

The 4-Way Test of the things we think, say or do:

1. Is it the truth?
2. Is it fair to all concerned?
3. Will it build goodwill and better friendships?
4. Will it be beneficial to all concerned?
